

To draw on the sail, use a fabric pen so the pattern won't run if your raft overturns!

This raft is 10 twigs wide.

The supporting twigs running across your raft help it to float. They can sit on the top or underneath.

DID YOU KNOW?
Moana sails a single-hulled outrigger canoe – a wooden sailing boat that she finds in the cavern of her ancestors.

5 Make holes along the right-hand edge of the sail with a darning needle. Thread the red yarn through the holes in the sail and around the mast.

6 Secure the yarn at the top of the mast with a tight knot. Trim off the end.

7 Glue the bottom edge of the sail to the shorter twig.

8 Slot the mast in between twigs in the raft. Natural bends in the wood should allow this.

9 To secure the mast, wrap yarn around its base, the twigs in the raft and the twig running across.
