Make your charms

Shrink plastic designs become smaller when they're baked, but much thicker and bolder.

Don't use any oil-based or waxy crayons or paint. The ink will melt in the oven!

1 Design your charms on paper first.

2 Draw your designs on the shrink plastic with permanent markers or glitter pens. Charms work best with a diameter of around 7 cm (2¾ in).

Leave space to punch the hole!

3 Cut your charms out, leaving 0.5 cm (¼ in) all the way around. Be careful of any sharp edges.

4 Figure out which way up each charm should hang and punch a hole in the top of each one.

Bake your charms

Ask an adult to bake these charms for you. When they come out of the oven, they'll be hot, so don't touch them until they've cooled down!

1 Place the charms on parchment paper on a baking sheet.

2 Ask an adult to bake the charms in a preheated oven at 160°C (320°F) for 2 minutes, but keep an eye on them.

3 Ask an adult to take the charms out of the oven and immediately press them under something flat and heavy, such as another baking sheet with some books on top.

4 After the charms have had time to cool, ask an adult to add a jewellery link to each charm using pliers.

5 Braid three ribbons together.

Cut the ribbons to lengths long enough to wrap around your wrist once braided.

6 As you braid, thread in the charms at regular intervals. Tie off the end, then your creations are ready to wear!

Some types of shrink plastic can be printed on. Check that you have the right type, though.
