

Some days, when the sky was clear and blue, Billy and Daddy would play in the yard until they were both too tired to play any more.

