

King of Biathlon

Norway's Ole Einar Bjørndalen is one of the greatest biathletes ever. Ole won 13 medals at the Winter Olympics, 8 of them gold.

Ole Einar Bjørndalen

Cross-country skiing

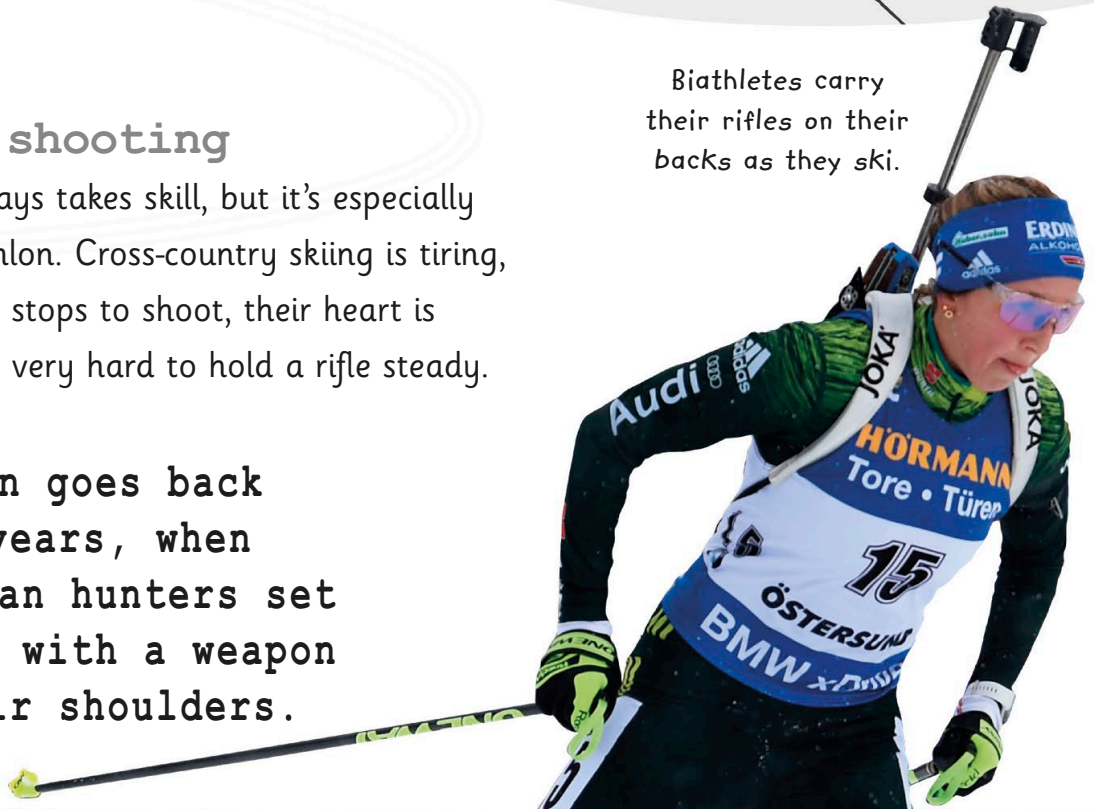

Target

Superhuman shooting

Shooting a rifle always takes skill, but it's especially tricky during a biathlon. Cross-country skiing is tiring, so when an athlete stops to shoot, their heart is pounding, making it very hard to hold a rifle steady.

Biathlon goes back 2,000 years, when Scandinavian hunters set off skiing with a weapon over their shoulders.

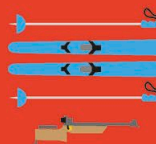

Biathletes carry their rifles on their backs as they ski.

Number of players:

Equipment:

Skis, poles, rifle