

Tug-of-war

Also known as rope-pulling, tug-of-war is a test of strength.

Two teams pull on opposite ends of a rope to try to drag the other team to their side of a line.

Tug-of-war was part of the Olympics between 1900 and 1920, but has not been included since.

Ancient origins

No one really knows where tug-of-war originated, but it's definitely very old. Ancient Chinese commanders used the sport to train soldiers, and it's likely generals in ancient Greece did the same.
