

But America's Jesse Owens proved them wrong in a big way. He won three individual gold medals in the 100m, 200m, and long jump, and a fourth as part of the US men's relay team.

Jesse's heroic performance sent an inspirational message to the rest of the world.

Owens's feat of winning four track and field gold medals didn't happen again until the US's Carl Lewis did it in 1984.

Although it angered the Nazis, most of the German crowd found Owens' performance amazing and cheered him on.
