

Gymnastics has appeared at every Olympics since 1896. Men and women compete in slightly different events.

Parallel bars

Gymnasts use two bars to perform a series of swings, balances, and spins.

Vault

After a short run-up, gymnasts jump onto a springboard, place their hands on a vault, throw themselves up into the air, and perform flips.

Trampolining

In trampolining, gymnasts bounce in the air as they spin and twirl. Competitions can be for one gymnast or pairs.

Rings

Gymnasts lift themselves off the ground on the rings and use their strength to spin and hold different positions.

Rhythmic gymnastics

This is a mix of dance, gymnastics, and ballet. Rhythmic gymnasts perform routines with props such as balls, hoops, ribbons, clubs, or a jump rope.

Number of players:

Equipment:

Beam, pommel horse, bars, rings, and more