

Snooker

Snooker is played on a big table using a stick called a cue and a set of balls. The goal is to knock the “cue ball” into other balls so they fall into the table’s pockets.

Potting

Knocking the balls into the pockets is called “potting” them. Each colored ball earns a different number of points when potted.

Pocket

 Red (1)

 Yellow (2)

 Green (3)

 Brown (4)

 Blue (5)

 Pink (6)

 Black (7)

Early snooker balls were made from animal bones or tusks.

 The balls must be potted in a special order: a red, then a color, then a red, then a color. The colored balls are replaced each time until all 15 red balls are potted.

 When all 15 red balls have been potted, the player pots the yellow, green, brown, blue, pink, and black balls in that order.

 Players keep going until they miss a pot. The winner is the player with the most points at the end of the game.
