

Dragon boat racing, where boats are decorated as brightly colored dragons, has been part of Chinese culture for over 2,000 years. Every year, a Dragon Boat Festival is held on the 5th day of the 5th month of the Chinese calendar.

Dragon dance

The dragon dance is a performance that is said to bring good luck. It is traditionally seen at Chinese New Year, and also as part of the Spring Lantern Festival, along with a lion dance.

Descendants of the dragons

Chinese Emperors were believed to be direct descendants of dragons. Their elaborate robes were called “dragon robes.”
