

Frost dragon

Frost dragons have adapted to withstand extreme cold. It's likely they descended from a more common Northern European dragon that ventured into the polar regions.

APPEARANCE

Cloaked in iridescent scales, Frost dragons have the ability to blend perfectly into icy landscapes. They have four legs and large, powerful wings. Their abnormally long claws are ideal for perching on the edge of icebergs.

DWELLING

Ice-covered areas with a water source nearby.

POWERS AND TRAITS

- The ability to shoot ice from its mouth and nostrils that can freeze enemies or be used as a shield
