

Fairy dragon

Fairy dragons can take many forms. In fact, the dragon Con Rong is the descendant of a water fairy, so is technically part Fairy dragon. But Con Rong looks very different to these tiny fairy dragons.

APPEARANCE

Fairy dragons are only the size of a hummingbird. They look like a gecko with the wings of a butterfly. Both their bodies and wings are very bright, and shimmer and change color in different lights.

DWELLING

Meadows and woodlands.

POWERS AND TRAITS

- Magic and mischief
- Can speak to other small creatures such as fairies and elves
- When in danger, they breathe out a bubble of air that surrounds the attacker and calms them down