

Look out for my flowers

If you're lucky, you may get a lovely surprise and catch a glimpse of my pinky-purple three-petaled flowers. They rarely appear on houseplants, but in my native country of Mexico, they appear in clusters during spring or summer.

Keep my colors bright

A position in a dimly lit spot will make the colors on my variegated leaves fade. To keep my silvers, greens, and purples looking brilliant, please keep me in a bright location with filtered light, making sure that my leaves don't get scorched by too much light.

BE AWARE: My sap is mildly toxic, so keep me away from children and pets, and wash your hands after handling me.
