

Admire my fabulous foliage

My amazing foliage will brighten up your day just by being seen—I cannot be missed.

Sometimes my leaves even change color as I mature, which is why I symbolize change. With my foliage stealing the show, my flowers aren't always noticeable because they are discreet white or yellow blooms.

Rescue me!

If I get too spindly and leggy, you can give me a trim to encourage new and bushy growth. Cut me back to 5in (12cm) from the top of my pot and dust some powdered charcoal over the cut ends to prevent my sap from running out.

BE AWARE: My sap can cause skin irritation, and my leaves are harmful if eaten.
