

DENDROBIUM

Dendrobium orchid

We had a stunning white one of these in our bathroom for years. It is such a beautiful flowering plant, with a vertical stem blessed with alternate green leaves and plenty of flowers all the way up its stem. From the base to the top, the whole plant is in bloom, and they can have wonderful fragrances, too.

“I’m a flower tower with an uplifting scent.”

Help me thrive

POSITION

Keep in full light in fall and winter and light shade in spring and summer. It's best suited to temperatures between 65°F (18°C) and 85°F (30°C).

POTTING

Tolerates being root-bound, and the pot should have plenty of drainage holes. Prefers an aerated potting mix, with good drainage.

GROWTH RATE

Can grow up to 2ft (60cm) tall and 1ft (30cm) wide. It's a top-heavy plant and will grow best if staked so the cane grows upward nicely.

CARE

In the summer, mist daily and water when the top of the soil feels dry. Feed every third time you water. Keep the plant drier in winter.

I'll clean your air

My leaves may remove toluene toxins from the air, which are released by paint, glue, and nail polish, and may have a detrimental effect on the central nervous system. I also respire and release oxygen at night, so I am great for your bedside table, where you can benefit from the oxygen while you sleep.

I stimulate multiple senses

My pretty flowers will not only be a refreshing treat for your eyes, but they also have a delicious sweet and fruity scent like that of strawberries and raspberries. This lovely aroma will calm you and lift your mood.
