

Help me feel at home

I eat insects in your home so choose a sunny spot for me where doors or windows open occasionally to let insects in. That way, I'm in the perfect place to catch my dinner.

Pure water, please

I need pure water when possible because the salt and minerals in tap water can build up in the soil, which may lead to me becoming unhealthy and dying. So I'd like it if you used rainwater or distilled water instead, please.

Let me rest

For a few months of the year, I like to have a rest period where I like to be kept cooler when the days are shorter. Don't think I'm dead; I'm just dormant, and I'll be back to growing in spring. While I'm resting, don't forget to water me once my soil dries out.

Don't make me bite you!

Please never be tempted to trick me into closing my trap around your finger or a pencil because it will waste a whole lot of my energy, and the oil from your skin will also damage my leaves.
