

Help me feel at home

I originated in Asia and grow well in subtropical climates. I like high humidity, but I don't like sitting in water, so please sit me on a saucer of wet gravel or pebbles; the water will evaporate with the heat and create humidity in the air around me.

I'm a fashion statement

I'm a chic, sophisticated addition to any room and I'm loved by trendsetters, including fashion design icon Coco Chanel and legendary jazz singer Billie Holiday, who decorated her hair with my flowers to create her trademark style.

Help me reflower

Once I've stopped flowering, cut off any dead flowers to encourage new blooms and prune any leggy old shoots, leaving my new growth to keep me looking healthy and compact. And don't wait too long to prune me, because it might mean I don't flower next year.

I symbolize love

Thanks to my white flowers and delicious scent, I am believed to symbolize love, purity, and sweetness, which is why I am often used in table centerpieces or bouquets at weddings.

BE AWARE: I can be harmful to pets if eaten, so keep me away from cats and dogs.
