

It might take a week or more before you see young, green leaves popping out of the top of your box.

