

THE ANCIENT WORLD

10,000 BCE—600 CE

Humans began farming in western Asia around 12,000 years ago. They settled in villages around farmlands. Eventually, these villages grew into towns and cities. Over time, cities and lands united under single leaders to form empires, such as Assyria and ancient Rome.

7. Which people were kept out by the Great Wall of China?

8. Which volcano destroyed the Roman city of Pompeii?

5. Which tribal leader revolted against the Romans in 52 BCE?

6. Which area's name means "the land between two rivers"?

