

Did cavemen live in caves?

Early people often used

Tens of thousands of years ago, some early people used caves to shelter from the weather or to hide from wild animals. It's thought they mostly used caves for short periods, however, and did not settle in them.

Cave painting

We know about early people because the cave paintings they made showed important events in their lives. This painting was probably made by Cro-Magnon people in around 15,000 BCE.

Room for one more

Most caves were only big enough for small groups. It's thought that Neanderthal people lived in groups of around 12 people.

