

The fruit looked tasty, so Eve picked one and took a big, juicy bite. It was so good she shared some with Adam. Straightaway, they felt shy and ashamed and realized they had no clothes on.

As soon as God realized they had eaten the forbidden fruit, a sadness as big as the whole world came over Him.

He gave Adam and Eve clothes and sent them out of the garden to raise their children and live without ever seeing Eden again. To make sure, He put an angel with a fiery sword to guard the gate. And all because they had done the one thing He had asked them not to do.

