

Daniel in the Lions' Den

The Israelites finally escaped from Egypt. But many years later, they were again made slaves, this time by the Babylonian kings. One of the Israelites who still trusted God was Daniel.

Daniel was so honest and smart that the King, Darius, made him Prime Minister. All the other politicians were jealous.

They made Darius pass a law saying no-one should pray to anyone but the King. Anyone who did would be thrown into a pit with hungry lions.
