

Five Thousand Hungry People

When Jesus grew up, he left his family and traveled all over the country telling people about God.

He chose some friends to join him. They were called his disciples.

One day, Jesus was preaching in a deserted place far from any town.

A huge crowd gathered to listen to him and more and more people arrived throughout the day.

