

“Eat whatever you like except the fruit from this tree,” said God, showing them a tree in the middle of the garden. “It is not good for you.” Adam and Eve agreed.

And for a while everything was perfect.