

The brothers were taking care of their father's flocks.
As the goats bleated and the sheep went "baaa," they plotted to get rid of Joseph.

Then, a caravan of camels came by.

The traders were on their way to Egypt with sweet-smelling perfumes and exotic spices.
“Let’s sell Joseph as a slave,” said one of the brothers.
So they ripped off his coat and sold him to the traders.