

When Moses came down the mountain,
he was carrying two tablets of stone.
Moses held them up to the people,
“God has written down his laws for us.”
And the people agreed to live by God’s ten commandments.