Smack!

It hit Goliath right
between the eyes.
And he fell down dead.

The little shepherd
boy became the next
king of Israel.
