

Strange but true

These weird and wonderful plants are some of the oldest or smelliest plants in the world. This is quite an achievement when there are over 400,000 species to choose from!

A late developer

Believe it or not, this 12 m- (40 ft-) tall plant is a herb! It holds the record for being the slowest-flowering plant. It takes 150 years to flower, but after all that effort, it dies.

It's one big stinker

The smelliest flower of all is the corpse flower, a kind of lily that grows in rainforests in Indonesia. Its "perfume" of rotting meat can be smelt a kilometre away.
