

HARDY FUCHSIAS

With their vivid blooms and long flowering season, hardy fuchsias are outstanding garden shrubs. They flower throughout the summer months, producing an abundance of vibrant, pendant, single to double flowers, with flared or elegantly recurved sepals. These range in color from deep red and purple to soft pink and pure white, and are often bicolored. Unlike tender varieties (see p.302), hardy fuchsias can be grown outside all year in full sun or partial shade. They require moist, well-drained soil, and can be grown in large containers.

SUMMER

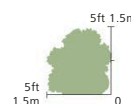

PINK

Abelia parvifolia

Deciduous, arching shrub. Pointed, mid-green leaves are bronze when young. Yellow-blotched, rose-purple and white flowers are borne from midsummer to mid-fall.

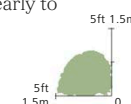

☀️ ♂ Z7-9

Cistus creticus (Rock rose)

Evergreen, bushy shrub. Pink or purplish-pink flowers, each with a central, yellow blotch, are borne amid ovate, wavy-margined, deeply veined, gray-green leaves, from early to midsummer.

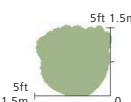

☀️ ♂ Z9-10

Desmodium elegans

Deciduous, upright subshrub. Mid-green leaves consist of 3 large leaflets. Large racemes of pale lilac to deep pink flowers are borne from late summer to mid-fall.

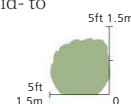

☀️ ♂ Z8-11

Spiraea japonica 'Anthony Waterer'

Deciduous, upright, compact shrub. Red, young foliage matures to dark green, often with creamy-white leaf margins. Heads of crimson-pink blooms are borne from mid- to late summer.

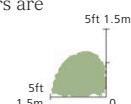

☀️ ♂ Z4-9

Kalmia angustifolia (Sheep laurel)

Mound-forming, evergreen shrub. Produces oblong to elliptic, dark green leaves, in opposite pairs or whorls of 3. Small, bowl- or cup-shaped, pink, occasionally white, flowers are produced in corymbs, in early summer.

☀️ ♂ Z4-9

Gaultheria shallon (Shallon)

Evergreen, bushy shrub. Red shoots carry broad, pointed, dark green leaves. Racemes of urn-shaped, pink flowers in late spring and early summer are followed by purple fruit.
