

PURPLE

Hebe 'E.A. Bowles'

Evergreen, rounded, bushy shrub with narrow, glossy, pale green leaves and slender spikes of lilac flowers produced from midsummer to late fall.

Lavandula x chaytoriae 'Sawyers'

Evergreen, bushy, compact shrub with linear, aromatic, silvery-gray leaves. In mid- to late summer, light purple flowers are borne in dense spikes, to 3-4in (8-10cm) long, on unbranched stems.

Hebe 'Autumn Glory'

Evergreen shrub that forms a mound of purplish-red shoots and rounded, deep green leaves, over which dense racemes of deep purple-blue flowers are borne from midsummer to early winter.

Hebe 'Bowles's Hybrid'

Evergreen, rounded shrub with ovate-oblong, slightly glossy, mid-green leaves. In summer, bears mauve-blue flowers in compact, tapered, terminal racemes.

Hebe 'Purple Queen'

Evergreen, compact shrub with glossy, deep green leaves that are purple-tinged when young. Dense racemes of deep purple flowers are borne from early summer to mid-fall.

BLUE

Hyssopus officinalis (Hyssop)

Semievergreen or deciduous, bushy shrub with aromatic, narrowly ovate, deep green leaves. Small, blue flowers are borne from midsummer to early fall. Sometimes used as a culinary herb.

Felicia amelloides 'Santa Anita'

Evergreen, bushy, spreading shrub. Blue flower heads, with bright yellow centers, are borne on long stalks from late spring to fall among round to ovate, bright green leaves.

Ceanothus delileanus 'Gloire de Versailles'

Vigorous, deciduous shrub. Has broad, ovate, mid-green leaves and bears long racemes of pale blue flowers from midsummer to early fall.

Rosmarinus officinalis (Rosemary)

Evergreen, bushy, dense shrub with aromatic, narrow leaves. Small, purplish-blue to blue flowers are borne from mid-spring to early summer and sometimes in fall. Used as a culinary herb.

