

The Mediterranean Sea is almost entirely surrounded by the coastlines of 21 countries. Other, smaller seas are also found close to the Mediterranean Sea.

This pie chart shows that almost all of the water that covers the Earth is ocean water, while the rest is either ice or fresh water.

