

a unusual

ADJECTIVE

Something that is unusual is not normal or ordinary. It is unusual to have snow in July.

☛ Opposite: usual

e unwell

ADJECTIVE

If you are unwell, you are ill. I was feeling a bit unwell so I went home.

☛ Opposite: well

i unwilling

ADJECTIVE

If you are unwilling to do something, you do not want to do it.

☛ Opposite: willing

m unwise

ADJECTIVE

Something that is unwise is not a good or sensible thing to do. It is unwise to swim out of your depth in the sea.

q unwrap

VERB unwraps, unwrapping, unwrapped

When you unwrap something, you take the wrapping or covering off it. Can I unwrap my presents now?

☛ Opposite: wrap

u upbringing

NOUN

Your upbringing is the way that your parents bring you up.

u update

VERB updates, updating, updated

To update something means to change it so that it has the most recent information. We update our website every week.

u upgrade

VERB upgrades, upgrading, upgraded

If you upgrade something such as a computer, you improve it, often by adding new parts to it.

u upload

VERB uploads, uploading, uploaded

When you upload information or photos, you copy them from your computer or phone onto the internet.

u upper case

ADJECTIVE

Upper case letters are capital letters.

u upright

ADVERB

Something that is upright is sitting or standing up straight. The dog stood upright on its hind legs.

u uproar

NOUN

If there is an uproar, there is a lot of noise and confusion.

She upset a jar of cookies.

u upset

VERB upsets, upsetting, upset

1 To upset someone means to make them feel unhappy. The other children upset her by not letting her play with them.

2 If you upset something, you knock it over. The cat upset the vase of flowers.

ADJECTIVE

3 If you are upset, you feel unhappy and cry. I was really upset when my pet hamster died.

u upside down

ADVERB

When something is upside down, it is the wrong way up and the top part of it is underneath. He hung the picture upside down.

He unwrapped the toffees.

