

Verbs

A verb is sometimes called an action word because it is a word that describes what a person or thing is doing. Sit, think, sleep, sing, and climb are all verbs. A sentence must contain a verb to make sense.

“Be” is also a verb. The parts of “be” are: I am, you are, he is, she is, we are, they are.

For example: I am very tall.

Now and then

The tense of a verb shows when something happens. Notice how the verb changes according to which tense it is in.

If an action happens now, the verb is in the present tense.

The boy kicks the ball.

If the action is happening now and continues to happen, the verb is in the present progressive tense.

The boy is kicking the ball.

If the action happened in the past, the verb is in the past tense.

The boy kicked the ball.

If the action will happen in the future, we can use will or “be” going to.

The boy will kick the ball.

The boy is going to kick the ball.

The boy kicks the ball.

the tallest

taller

This flower is more beautiful.

This flower is the most beautiful.

Some tricky past tenses

We usually make a past tense by adding -ed to the verb.

We worked hard yesterday.

Some verbs have different past tenses.
