

Mysteries of space

Black holes, alien life, the Big Bang... space and its mysteries have always fascinated people, and inspired artists and writers. We know quite a lot about space, but there is far more we don't know. So what is fact, and what is fantasy?

Lives of the stars

Mysteries, such as how stars are born in nebulae and die in supernovae, are gradually being solved with the help of incredibly powerful telescopes. But there is a long way to go.
