

The conductor stands in front of the musicians so that they can see the baton.

The French horn, like a trumpet or a trombone, is a long, curved tube that is made of brass.

Bow

Strings

Which Section?

The clarinet player is sitting on a yellow seat. By using the key shown below, you can see that a clarinet is a woodwind instrument.

String Percussion Woodwind Brass

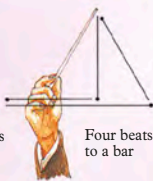

Two beats to a bar

Three beats to a bar

Four beats to a bar

Keeping the beat

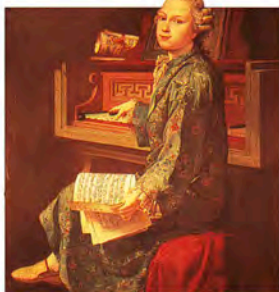

If all the instruments in an orchestra played at different speeds it would sound terrible. The musicians keep in time by watching a conductor who waves a baton to the beat of the music.

Conductor

Short stick, called a baton

This cello, like the violin, is part of the string section. It is played by drawing a bow across the strings.

Child genius

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart wrote, or composed, more than 600 pieces of music. He completed his first symphony when he was eight years old!

