THE FUTURE

Rain
machine

This "mountain"
was built inside
a studio.

The camera rolls
forward on a wheeled
truck called a dolly.

This pole, which has a microphone
on the end of it, is called a boom.
It is held up high so that it does not appear in the film.

The director is in charge
of shooting the film.

Between shots,
the makeup
artists make sure
that the actor
looks right.
