Bratislava castle

Bratislava is the capital of Slovakia and is situated on the Danube River. The oldest parts of the city date back to the middle ages.

City of learning

Many of Poland's buildings were lost in World War II, but Krakow's buildings escaped and the impressive streets are a reminder that Krakow was once the capital of Poland. The oldest university in Poland is situated in Krakow—the university of the Jagellonians.

To get to the steeple you have to enter the main doors, which are Gothic in style and carved from wood.

The face of this famous clock not only tells the time, but shows the movement of the sun and the moon through the twelve signs of the zodiac.

Pictures on the calendar show how the world changes with the four seasons.

Historic square

Warsaw, the capital of Poland, is more than 700 years old. Today its old town is a popular tourist attraction and people can explore the area in traditional horse-drawn carriages.
