

Switzerland

Alpine ibex

The rocky slopes of the Swiss Alps are home to the Alpine ibex. These wild goats have padded hooves that make them expert climbers.

More than half of Lake Geneva is in Switzerland, and the rest is in France.

Matterhorn
The pyramid-shaped peak of the Matterhorn rises 14,692 ft (4,478 m) high. It is the most recognizable mountain in the Alps.

Zürich is the largest city in the country.

The particle accelerator at CERN is called the Large Hadron Collider.

Nuclear research

Located near Geneva, CERN is a major center for nuclear research. It is home to the world's largest particle accelerator (a machine that studies atoms), which is 17 miles (27 km) long.

Bern's Old Town

The Swiss capital has a town center full of medieval landmarks, including the Käfturm, a gate tower that once served as a prison.

Swiss chocolate
Famous for its smooth texture and superior taste, Swiss chocolate is enjoyed worldwide. The country produces about 220,000 tons of chocolate per year from many brands, including the distinctive Toblerone bar.

- ☑ 15,940 sq miles (41,285 sq km)
- 👤 8.4 million
- ★ Bern
- 🗣 German, Swiss-German, French, other languages (+2)

Nestled in the Alps and bordered by the Jura range to the northwest, this country is famous for its ski resorts but also for watches and chocolates and as a center for banking.

