

Hungary

Europe

Hungarian flavor

The national spice is paprika, which is made from ground hot, sweet red peppers. It is featured in traditional dishes such as goulash, a beef soup.

Striking floral designs are the most common pattern.

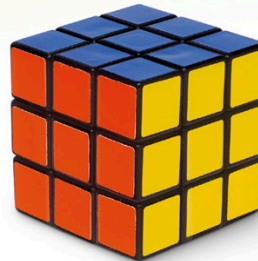

Hungarian embroidery

Folk art enjoyed a revival in 19th-century Hungary as the nation found its identity. Embroidered costumes are worn for celebrations.

With an area of 231 sq miles (598 sq km), Lake Balaton is the largest lake in Central Europe.

Nagy Magyar Alföld is the name given by Hungarians to the Great Hungarian Plain.

Rubik's Cube

In 1974, the Hungarian inventor Ernő Rubik created the Rubik's Cube—a color-coded 3-D puzzle toy. More than 400 million Rubik's Cubes have been sold worldwide.

Water polo

Both the Hungarian men's and women's national teams excel at the sport of water polo. The men's team has won 15 Olympic medals and 11 World Championships.

Budapest

The Danube River divides the city in two. On the west bank lies quiet Buda, home to Buda Castle and the Old Town. Across the river is lively Pest, where the Parliament and shopping district lie.

The Széchenyi Chain Bridge is one of eight bridges linking Buda (on the left) with Pest (on the right).

Known by its people as the “Land of Magyars,” this country lost two-thirds of its land after World War I. Today, it is known for folk art, music, and thermal baths as well as Lake Balaton.

- 📏 35,918 sq miles (93,028 sq km)
- 👤 9.8 million
- ★ Budapest
- 🇭🇺 Hungarian (Magyar)

