

Mango mania

April to June is peak "mango season," when Indians feast on more than 1,500 varieties of the sweet fruit.

The facade is made of marble and red sandstone.

Cricket balls are traditionally covered in red leather.

Qila-i-Kuhna Mosque

Delhi is home to many magnificent monuments. This mosque was built around 1541 inside the Purana Qila, one of Delhi's forts.

Cricket

India won the Cricket World Cup in 1983 and 2011. This popular sport is played all across the country.

Hindu gods

Flute-playing Krishna is one of the main deities among the many gods and goddesses of Hinduism.

Holi festival

People celebrate the arrival of spring by throwing colored powder on each other in the festival of Holi.

Andaman Islands

The Andamans are made up of nearly 300 islands with sandy beaches and tropical rain forests.

Port Blair

Nicobar Islands

This houseboat ferries tourists.

Moving house

People use traditional boats called kettuvallam to transport goods along the waterways of southwestern India. Many of these boats have been turned into houseboats or homes for tourists.

Launching satellites

Since 1969, the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) has launched many satellites aboard heavy rockets, such as this GSLV Mark III.

Geography: Forests, deserts, mountains, and plains make up India. Its climate is mostly hot and tropical.

History: Many kingdoms in the region were under the British Empire, until the independent country of India formed in 1947.

Culture: The wide variety in music, dance, festivals, and art from all across the country reflects the cultural diversity of the nation.

Natural wonders: The Himalayas are the world's highest mountain range. They cross 10 Indian states.

Wildlife: Many of the planet's most loved, and feared, creatures are found in India—tigers, elephants, crocodiles, and cobras.

Food and drink: Rice, flour, and lentils are staple foods, typically flavored with a range of spices.