

Chinese lanterns

Lanterns are featured in the decorations for Chinese New Year. The red stands for happiness and the gold signifies wealth.

Modern Shanghai

On the central coast of China lies Shanghai, a sprawling city known for industry and commerce. It is China's largest city.

Traditional opera

Since the 18th century, Chinese performers have used music, mime, and dance in their dramatic operatic plays.

The style of the headdress reveals information about the opera's characters—this is the crown of a noblewoman.

Fan Zhendong

Table tennis has been China's most popular sport since the 1950s, and Fan Zhendong is among its greatest players.

Geography: The Yangtze and the Yellow Rivers are the longest in China. To the north lies the Gobi Desert.

History: Until the Communist Revolution in 1949, China was ruled by emperors for more than 4,000 years.

Culture: The country is famous for philosophy, architecture, martial arts, and visual arts.

Food and drink: Rice, noodles, meat, vegetables, and tea are at the heart of Chinese cuisine.