

Asia

Taiwan

Bubble tea

This popular drink was invented in Taiwan during the 1980s. It is a blend of milk, sugar, tea leaves, and tapioca balls, and it can come in many fruit flavors.

CHINA

Rush-hour traffic
Motorbikes often outnumber cars in the storm of traffic that hits Taipei every morning and evening.

- 13,892 sq miles (35,980 sq km)
- 23.6 million
- Taipei
- Amoy Chinese, other languages (+2)

The mountainous island of Taiwan in the Pacific Ocean lies about 100 miles (160 km) off the southeastern coast of China. The country is famous for its natural beauty and the fusion of different cultures.

Ace students

Math and science are valued highly in Taiwan, and its students achieve some of the best scores in the world.

North Korea

No man's land

After a three-year war between North and South Korea, ending in 1953, a demilitarized zone was created between the two countries. Nature thrives in this 2.5-mile (4 km) strip of empty land.

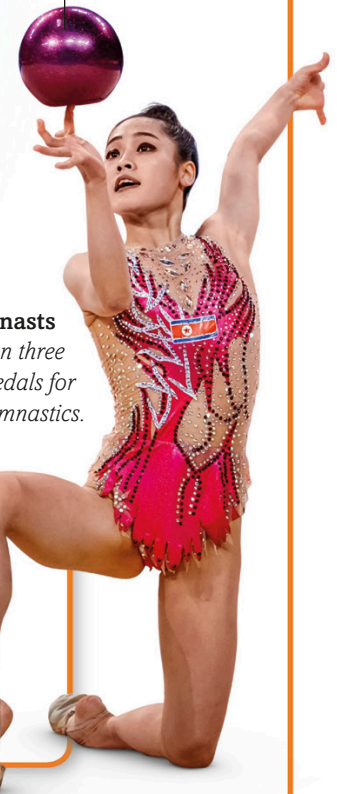

0 50 km
0 50 miles
(approximate scale)

Rhythmic gymnastics involves dance routines with balls.

Champion gymnasts

North Korea has won three Olympic gold medals for artistic gymnastics.

- 46,540 sq miles (120,538 sq km)
- 25.6 million
- Pyongyang
- Korean

North Korea separated from South Korea after World War II. The border between the countries was drawn across the middle of the Korean peninsula along a line of latitude.