

Taman Negara Park

Visitors can climb a ropeway to explore the canopy of one of the world's oldest deciduous rain forests at this enormous national park on the Malay Peninsula.

Gunung Kinabalu
4,101 m
(13,454 ft)
Kota Kinabalu

Stinky fruit

The durian is an unusual fruit with a smell so bad that it is banned on public transportation in Malaysia.

A spiky outer shell protects the soft, yellowish flesh of the fruit.

Petronas Towers

The world's tallest twin towers are the Petronas Towers in Kuala Lumpur. With a height of 1,483 ft (452 m), these skyscrapers both have 88 floors.

- 127,354 sq miles (329,847 sq km)
- 32.6 million
- Kuala Lumpur
- Bahasa Malaysia, Malay, other languages (+3)

This tropical, Southeast Asian country is made up of the Malay Peninsula and part of the island of Borneo. Malaysia is known for its popular beaches, lush rain forests, and large multicultural cities.

Sensational satay

Among Indonesia's favorite dishes is skewered and grilled meat called satay, served with a delicious peanut sauce.

Puncak Jaya
5,040 m (16,535 ft)
Jayapura

0 200 km
0 200 miles
(approximate scale)

Bamboo music

The angklung is a musical instrument invented in Indonesia. Bamboo tubes attached together with rattan (strips of a palm tree) are beaten or shaken to create sounds.

Rain forest rover

The island of Sumatra is home to the Sumatran Orangutan, a critically endangered primate. It spends most of its time in the trees and sleeps in a nest of branches.

Long arms help the orangutan to swing freely between the trees.

