

New Zealand

This ornate, hand-painted wooden carving of Tangaroa, the Māori god of the sea, is on display in Auckland.

Extreme sports

Thrill seekers can enjoy a variety of extreme sports in the great outdoors. These include skydiving, white-water rafting, and bungee jumping.

0 100 km
0 100 miles
(approximate scale)

Māori carvings
The Māori are Polynesian settlers who first arrived in New Zealand in the 14th century. Their carvings are treasured artifacts.

Milford Sound

Mountains and rain forest surround this fjord (deep sea inlet) in South Island. Dolphins and seals swim in its waters.

Dairy farming

New Zealand is one of the world's biggest dairy producers. Millions of cows graze in pastures across the country.

Beloved bird

Native to New Zealand, the flightless kiwi bird is the unofficial national symbol.

North Island

The team performs the ceremonial Māori dance called the haka before the start of every game.

New Zealand All Blacks

The country's national sport is rugby. The national team, known as the All Blacks, has won the rugby union World Cup three times.

- 📏 103,798 sq miles (268,838 sq km)
- 👤 4.9 million
- ★ Wellington
- 🗣️ English, Māori

Two islands in the Pacific Ocean make up New Zealand. Its landscape is a mix of stunning coastline, active volcanoes, and fertile farmland. There are 30 million sheep here—which far outnumber the people.

