

Nigeria

Made from an alloy of brass and bronze, this ornate plaque depicts the oba, or king, with his attendants.

Benin bronzes

The historic Kingdom of Benin, in what is now Nigeria, was known for its skilled metalworkers. More than 1,000 bronze plaques and sculptures once decorated the royal palace in Benin City.

Digital media

Nigeria has hundreds of newspapers, TV networks, and radio stations, but new media, accessed via laptops and cell phones, are taking over, especially in the cities.

Abuja is the purpose-built capital city in the center of Nigeria.

Four-horned chameleon

Native to Nigeria and neighboring Cameroon, this chameleon can be recognized by the four prominent horns on its snout. Its striking green skin allows it to effortlessly blend in with forest foliage.

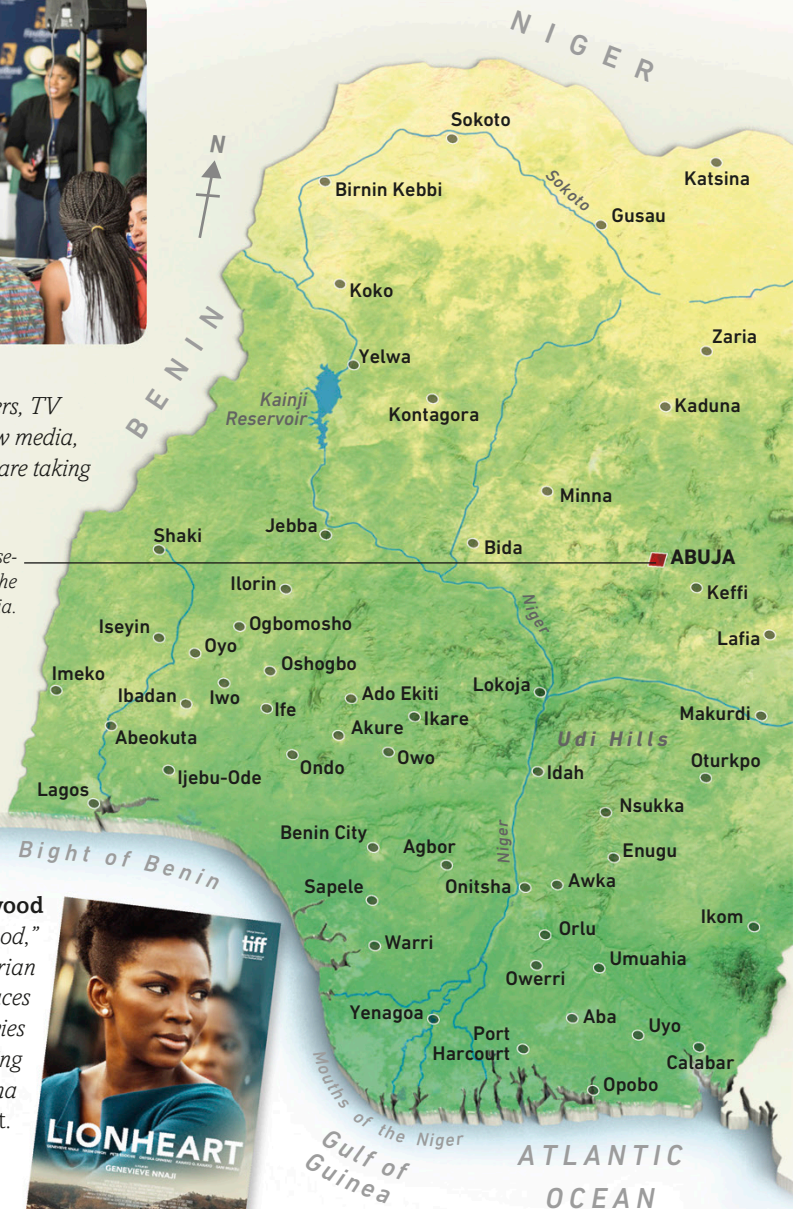

Hakeem Olajuwon

Nigerian-born basketball star Hakeem Olajuwon played in the US National Basketball Association (NBA) from 1984 to 2002 and secured his place in the prestigious Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame.

Nollywood

Nicknamed "Nollywood," the prolific Nigerian movie industry produces more than 1,500 movies every year, including the 2018 drama Lionheart.

- 📏 356,669 sq miles (923,768 sq km)
- 👤 214 million
- ★ Abuja
- 🗣️ Hausa, Yoruba, English, Ibo

Nigeria has the largest population and richest economy of any African nation. The country's oil industry, centered around Port Harcourt in the Niger Delta, contributes to its wealth. Half of the population live in urban areas. Lagos, Africa's biggest city, sits on the coast, while the smaller capital, Abuja, was built inland in the 1980s.