

Mopane worms

The large caterpillar of the emperor moth is a delicacy eaten in Zimbabwe, either sun-dried or fried in a tasty sauce.

Zimbabwe

Africa

Flame lily

This vibrant red and yellow flower looks like flames. It is a protected species and the national flower of Zimbabwe.

- 150,872 sq miles (390,757 sq km)
- 14.5 million
- Harare
- Shona, isiNdebele, English

This landlocked country has been at the heart of trading empires such as medieval Great Zimbabwe since the 11th century. It is known for the stunning scenery and wildlife of its ridge and river valleys.

0 100 km
0 100 miles
(approximate scale)

Victoria Falls

These are among the world's largest waterfalls, extending over 5,604 ft (1,708 m) along the Zambezi River.

Lake Malawi

One of the largest lakes in Africa, Lake Malawi is home to more than 850 different species of colorful cichlid fish.

Malawi

The national flag features a rising sun to symbolize the new dawn of freedom in Africa.

0 100 km
0 100 miles
(approximate scale)

- 45,747 sq miles (118,484 sq km)
- 21.2 million
- Lilongwe
- Chewa, Lomwe, Yao, Ngoni, English

The Great Rift Valley, where the rock that makes up Africa divides, cuts through this long, narrow country. Formed in the rift, Lake Malawi, also known as Lake Nyasa, is one of Africa's Great Lakes. It is 360 miles (580 km) long and 47 miles (75 km) wide.

Vibrant wraps

Many women in southern Africa traditionally wear the chitenge, a vivid, patterned fabric worn as a sarong or a headdress. It is also fashioned into skirts, blouses, and dresses.

