

What makes you you?

All human bodies work the same way, but everyone is different. Nobody looks, sounds, or thinks exactly like you. You're different because of the way your genes and experience shape you as you grow up.

Unique

The shape of your face, the colour of your hair, and many other things make you unique – different from everyone else.