

Horns and frills

Built like a rhinoceros, Triceratops is one of the best-known of all dinosaurs. It belongs to a group known as the “horned face” dinosaurs or ceratopsians.

That's one hefty plant-eater!

Three-horned face

Triceratops was one of the largest of all the horned faces, reaching about 10 m (33 ft) in length when fully grown.