

Biology reference

The plant kingdom

With the scientific name Plantae, this kingdom contains around 300,000 species, ranging from simple mosses to immense trees. The great majority of plants are photosynthetic and manufacture their own supply of sugars using the energy in sunlight.

