

Barrier islands

These long, thin stretches of sand protect the mainland from powerful storms. The barrier islands off the Virginia and Maryland coasts are home to the wild Chincoteague Ponies of Chincoteague and Assateague islands.

Central American rain forest

Rain forests are warm and green all year, and they are home to more than half the world's plants and animals. These colorful scarlet macaws from Costa Rica perch high in rain-forest trees.

SCALE

